1. If you could know the breadth be-tween A ho - ly God and sin-ful man A cha-sm
2. If you could know the length He went From Hea - ven's joy to hu-man tears From splen-dor
3. If you could know the depth of sin And see the ha - voc it has sown The dar-kest 4. If you could know the heights of life That flow through res - sur-ec - ted veins Once we have we could ne-ver cross That on - ly God Him-self could span Ch. Then you would know a love so vast It to a crown of thorns From an-gel's praise to mock-ing jeers se-crets, vi-lest crimes He took from us to make His own tra-ded ear-thly dust For crowns of glo-ry that re-main spans from here to Pa - ra-dise The breadth and length and depth and height Then you would know the love of Christ
